Course Description: Behind every well-disciplined and high-performing department, unit or team you will find one constant – effective leadership. The most effective leaders understand that there is an art and science to good leadership. Transformational Leadership: Strategies for Police Supervisors, is designed to give the police leader an understanding of what leadership really is, how to assess and evaluate it, and then how to apply it in their everyday work environment. This course is designed to get leaders thinking about their own assumptions, assess their own leadership strengths and areas of opportunity, and identify specific, concrete leadership strategies they can use in both their personal and professional lives.

Topics Include: The ideal leader, core values and ethical leadership, principles of transformational leadership, leadership blockages, the multi-factor leadership questionnaire, leadership strategies for police leaders, and more...
